Town Government Structure

Town Council is the legislative body of our Town government, made up of seven members including the Mayor and Mayor Pro Tem. Each Councilmember is elected on a nonpartisan basis for 4-year overlapping terms to represent an election district, and the Mayor is elect to represent the Town at large. The Mayor Pro Tem is elected from the Councilmembers by a majority vote and serves two year terms.

Council has a responsibility to adopt ordinances that become law, resolutions related to public policy, or confirming consensus on internal and administrative issues, to approve the budget and necessary appropriations, to approve major contracts or agreements, and to provide direction to Town staff on land use decisions including annexations, zoning, subdivision and development agreements. Additionally, Town Council also appoints the Town Manager, Town Attorney, and the municipal judge.

Council also appoints members to the Town's boards and commissions. Boards and commissions that serve in an advisory role to Council, present recommendations through the department staff liaison as part of the overall review of the agenda item before Council.

The Town of Castle Rock operates within a council-manager form of government. The Town Manager is responsible for implementing policy decisions and legislative actions taken by Town Council. The Town Manager is also responsible for the overall management and day-to-day operations of the Town.

Boards & Commission Origins

The Town of Castle Rock was incorporated as a municipal corporation in 1881 and remained a statutory town under the Colorado constitution until 1987 when a Home rule Charter was adopted. The Town's advisory boards and commissions created in the early 1990's were a way to engage the community in civic responsibility. Other commissions are required by state statute or the Town Charter. Today, new boards or commissions may be created by Town Council to advise Council and perform such functions as the Council may designate. Typically, most boards and commissions are created to perform defined duties within a specific area of interest for an indefinite period of time.
